

A stylized illustration of a video game controller. It features a blue joystick at the top, a directional pad on the left, and four buttons on the right colored blue, red, green, and yellow. In the center of the controller is a small rectangular screen displaying the European Union flag (a blue field with twelve yellow stars arranged in a circle). The controller has a light gray body with a dark gray outline and a light blue accent on the bottom edge.